FORWARD

The Scottish Youth Football Association (SYFA) is an organisation set up in 1999 to oversee grassroots recreation youth football. The objects of the Association are to legislate for, foster, develop and improve the game of Association Football amongst all classes of youth football clubs, leagues or associations of such clubs in Scotland.

The SYFA is fully committed to safeguarding the welfare of all players in its care. The SYFA recognises the responsibility to promote safe practice and to protect players from harm, abuse and exploitation.

SYFA Staff and all officials will work together to embrace difference and diversity and respect the rights of children and young people. The SYFA is fully committed to and recognises the importance of the volunteer sector without whom it would be impossible for football to function at grassroots level in Scotland.

This revised document outlines the SYFA commitment to protect all players. These guidelines are based on the following principles and are supported by our work and experiences over a number of years:

- The welfare of players is the primary concern
- All players, whatever their age, culture, disability, gender, language, racial origin, socio-economic status, religious belief and/or sexual identity have the right to protection from all forms of harm and abuse
- Player protection is the responsibility of all SYFA members
- Players have a right to express their views on all matters which affect them and should be encouraged to do so in appropriate ways e.g. at club meetings
- The SYFA shall work in partnership together with players and parents to promote the welfare, health and development of player.

Why protecting players is important to the SYFA Executive Committee

There are many reasons why the SYFA needs to address, plan and implement the protection of children and young people. It:

- Will help to ensure the governing body and member clubs fulfill legal and moral obligations for the care and protection of players
- Sends a positive message to both players and parents about the value you place on players and their participation in your sport
- Sends a positive message to staff and officials that you will support and guide them when they work with players and you will put safeguards in place to minimise risk to all
- Sets the standards and expectations for everyone working in the sport and provides a benchmark against which practice can be measured and challenged
- Builds a legacy for the future of the sport
- Reduces the risk of successful legal action against the organisation by ensuring that all legal duties have been fulfilled and that all reasonable steps have been taken to safeguard and promote the health, welfare and development of players

Part V of the Police Act 1997 is aimed at helping employers and voluntary organisations assess the suitability of applicants for particular posts and to make safer recruitment decisions in relation to positions of trust by widening access to criminal record information. To this end, the Act provides for the issue of criminal conviction certificates, criminal record certificates, and enhanced criminal record certificates. In Scotland, Disclosure Scotland will issue these certificates. Due to the flexible nature of the work carried out by our volunteers and the ability to have unrestricted access to children the SYFA will only carry out Enhanced Disclosure checks.

The Protection of Children (Scotland) Act 2003 aims to improve safeguards for children by preventing unsuitable people from working with them.

The Act provides for Scottish Ministers to keep the Disqualified from Working with Children List.

The Scottish Youth FA has a legal duty to make a referral to Scottish Ministers if an individual working with players harms a child or puts a child at risk of harm AND is dismissed or moved away from access to children as a consequence. In addition, a person working with players who harms a child or puts a child at risk of harm AND would have been dismissed if they had not resigned, retired, been made redundant or left at the end of a temporary contract, must also be referred to Scottish Ministers. The Scottish Youth FA will have committed an offence if it fails to make referrals to the list where the criterion for making referrals has been met. The List will include those convicted of an offence against a child, when the court considers them to be unsuitable to work with children.

Those who have been fully listed by the Scottish Ministers will commit a criminal offence if they apply to or work with children. It will be an offence for an organisation to knowingly employ a person to work with children if that person has been fully listed by the Scottish Ministers. The fact that someone is on the List, either fully listed or provisionally listed, will be released as part of a Disclosure Application available from Disclosure Scotland.

The List helps to strengthen the safeguards already in place to protect children.

The 2006 Accord for the Protection of Children in Scottish Sport presents a support framework to help organisations work towards recommended good practice in protecting children and to fulfill their responsibilities as part of the Scottish Executive's Reform Programme.

The SYFA has designed the policy statement listed at section 1 of this policy, which assists compliance with the various laws, both national and international, and must be implemented by all SYFA member officials, clubs, leagues, associations and regions.

IMPLEMENTATION PLAN

The protection of players is the responsibility of everyone in the SYFA regardless of their status or role.

Through the effective implementation of the SYFA Player Protection Policy this will:

- Promote a consistent response to all player protection matters
- Reduce the risk of litigation against the association
- Help maximise player fun and safety
- Reassure officials by increasing their confidence to engage in activities with players

Policy and Awareness

The SYFA Executive Committee will appoint a Player Protection Panel consisting of a chairperson and a maximum of 12 members.

The SYFA Executive Committee will take every opportunity to promote and maximise awareness of the SYFA Player Protection Policy and Guidelines.

On seeking membership of the SYFA all officials, clubs, leagues and associations must adopt the SYFA Player Protection Policy and Guidelines.

All officials, clubs, leagues and associations will take every opportunity to promote and maximise awareness of the SYFA Player Protection Policy and Guidelines.

On receipt of membership all clubs, leagues and associations will receive a copy of the SYFA Roles and Responsibilities booklet.

The SYFA will support all member clubs, leagues/associations or regions with the implementation of this policy.

The SYFA will assist member clubs, leagues, associations and regions to appoint Player Protection Officers.

Player Protection Officers (PPO's)

The SYFA Executive Committee will appoint a Player Protection Collator and a minimum of one National Player Protection Officer.

The Player Protection Collator is David Little, National Secretary of the SYFA on 0141 620 4590. The National Player Protection Officer is Hazel Killen on 0141 620 4590.

All six SYFA Regional Executive Committees will appoint a minimum of one Regional Player Protection Officer.

On seeking membership of the SYFA all leagues / associations must appoint a minimum of one Player Protection Officer. Where necessary, the SYFA will assist member leagues and associations to appoint Player Protection Officers. The PPO's full contact details will be posted on the SYFA website under their region and then on the league / association page.

On seeking membership of the SYFA all clubs must appoint a Player Protection Officer. Where necessary, the SYFA will assist member clubs to appoint Player Protection Officers.

Training and Support

The SYFA Executive Committee will attempt to provide training for all club officials. SYFA recommended training is as follows:

For all club officials - Sports Coach UK in partnership with sportscotland offer a 3 hour workshop called Safeguarding and Protecting Children which explores good practice when coaching children in sport and is provided by sportscotland.

For all Player Protection Officers – As a follow on for Player Protection Officers, Children 1st offer a 3 hour workshop called 'In Safe Hands'.

SYFA members can book both courses through Hazel Killen, SYFA National Player Protection Officer.

The SYFA will support all member clubs, leagues and associations with the implementation of protection training.

Monitoring and reviewing the policy and guidelines

The SYFA Player Protection Panel will regularly monitor and review the SYFA Player Protection Policy and Guidelines. The Panel may also review the policy as circumstances, guidance and legislation dictate.

The SYFA Executive Committee will approve any required changes to the SYFA Player Protection Policy and Guidelines.

Player Protection will be an agenda item for every SYFA Executive Committee meeting where regular reports will be made on progress, challenges, difficulties, achievements, gaps and areas where changes are required.

Monitoring may include all or some of the following:

- A random sampling to check consent forms are available for each participating player
- Checking all guidelines were adhered to during a debrief following a trip away
- A periodic review of the information on league and club websites
- A review into the management of reported concerns

Over the longer term, records of cases will help to inform an assessment of areas of risk and whether the SYFA is effectively keeping players safe.

1. POLICY STATEMENT AND PRINCIPLES

POLICY STATEMENT

The Scottish Youth Football Association plus its standing committees, regions, member leagues/associations, member clubs and officials are fully committed to providing every player and official with a safe environment in which they may enjoy participating in grassroots football.

BACKGROUND AND THE RIGHTS OF THE CHILD

The United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child (1989) (UNCRC) is the international framework within which children's rights and welfare are safeguarded. The rights which form the basis of these guidelines are:

- The right of all children to enjoy all the rights contained in the convention irrespective of the child or their parent's race, colour, sex, language, religion, political or other opinion, national, ethnic or social origin, property, disability, birth or other status (Article 2)
- The right of all children to be protected from "all forms of physical or mental violence, injury or abuse, neglect or negligent treatment, maltreatment or exploitation, including sexual abuse, while in the care of parent(s), legal guardian(s) or any other person who has the care of the child" (Article 19)
- The right of the child to rest and leisure, to engage in play and recreational activities appropriate to the age of the child and to participate freely in cultural life and the arts (Article 31)
- The right of the children affected by physical or learning disabilities to enjoy a full and decent life in conditions that ensure dignity promote self-reliance and facilitate the child's active life in the community (Article 23)
- The right of all children who are capable of forming a view to express those views in all matters affecting the child (Article 12)

What does this mean for the SYFA?

The UNCRC and government guidance makes it clear that all children have a right to be safe when they participate in sport and that those who organise/deliver sport to children have a duty to make sure children are safe and protected from harm in and through sport.

Child protection in all sport is not just about protecting children from others who may seek to harm them through sport. A trusted coach or leader may be the person a child chooses to tell about something that is happening at home or outwith sport. In either case, we all have a responsibility to act on concerns.

Participation in sport also makes an important contribution to a child's development. A child's natural sense of fun and spontaneity can blossom in a positive environment created by sports organisations. Sport provides an excellent opportunity for them to maintain good health, learn new skills, become more confident, build resilience, self-esteem and maximise their own unique potential. This is particularly important for children who are affected by adversity and who may be particularly vulnerable.

POLICY PRINCIPLES

The SYFA is fully committed to safeguarding the welfare of all players in its care. It recognises the responsibility to promote safe practice and to protect players from harm, abuse and exploitation.

SYFA staff and all volunteers will work together to embrace difference and diversity and respect the rights of children and young people.

This policy outlines the SYFA commitment to protecting players and is based on the following player's rights:

- The right to a safe environment

- The right to a protection against harm or the risk of harm
- The right to a protection against physical abuse
- The right to a protection against verbal abuse
- The right to a protection against emotional abuse
- The right to a protection against sexual abuse
- The right to a protection against bullying
- The right to a protection against neglect
- The right to express opinions and to have those opinions considered in all matters that concern their well being
- The right that all actions concerning the child should be in his/her best interests
- The right to have all suspicions and allegations taken seriously and actioned as appropriate

The SYFA shall:

- Promote the health and welfare of children by providing opportunities for them to take part in grassroots football safely
- Respect and promote the rights, wishes and feelings of players
- Promote and implement appropriate guidelines to safeguard the well being of players and protect them from abuse
- Recruit, train, support and supervise its staff and officials to adopt best practice to safeguard and protect players from abuse and to reduce risk to themselves
- Require staff and officials to adopt and abide by this Player Protection Policy and these guidelines
- Respond to any allegations of misconduct or abuse of players in line with this Policy and these guidelines as well as implementing, where appropriate, the relevant disciplinary and appeals procedures
- Observe guidelines issued by local Child Protection Committees for the protection of children
- Regularly monitor and evaluate the implementation of this Policy and these guidelines

WHAT ARE WE PROTECTING PLAYERS AGAINST?

The following examples are ways in which children may be abused or harmed, either within or outwith sport.

Child Abuse

In Scotland child abuse is defined as follows:

‘Children may be in need of protection where their basic needs are not being met, in a manner appropriate to their age and stage of development, and they will be at risk through avoidable acts of commission or omission on the part of their parent(s), sibling(s) or other relative(s), or a carer (i.e. the person while not a parent who has actual custody of the child).’

This definition includes placing children at risk through something a person has done to them or something a person is failing to do for them. For those working in the field of child care and protection the definition gets broken down further into categories of abuse, namely;

(i) Emotional Abuse
(iv) Sexual Abuse

(ii) Physical Injury

(iii) Physical Neglect

These categories are not mutually exclusive, for example, a child experiencing physical abuse is undoubtedly experiencing emotional abuse as well. The following definitions of the different types of child abuse are taken from Protecting Children - A Shared Responsibility, Guidance on Inter-agency co-operation (Scottish Office, 1998).

Identifying Child Abuse

Although the physical and behavioural signs listed may be symptomatic of abuse, they may not always be an indicator and, conversely, children experiencing abuse may not demonstrate any of these signs.

Child abuse is often difficult to recognise. It is not the responsibility of anyone involved in the SYFA to decide whether or not a child has been abused. This is the role of trained professionals. We all however, have a duty to act on any concerns about abuse.

Children and Young People with a Learning or Physical Disability

Research tells us that children and young people who have learning or physical disabilities are more vulnerable to abuse. This is because:

- they are often dependent on a number of people for care and handling, some of which can be of an intimate nature
- they may be unable to understand the inappropriateness of the actions or communicate to others that something is wrong
- signs of abuse can be misinterpreted as a symptom of the disability
- like other children they are fearful of the consequences of disclosing abuse
- attitudes and assumptions that children with disabilities are not abused
- they may be unable to resist abuse due to physical impairment
- of negative attitudes towards children with disabilities
- possible failures to recognise the impact of abuse on children with disabilities

Particular care should be taken by all officials when working with children affected by disability

(i) Emotional Abuse

“failure to provide for a child’s basic emotional needs such as to have a severe effect on the behaviour and development of the child”

This could include making a child feel worthless or unloved, inadequate or not valued; inappropriate expectations being imposed on children for their age or stage of development; the corruption or exploitation of a child, or causing them frequently to feel frightened or in danger; persistent exposure to domestic abuse; failing to provide a child with love, care and affection.

Examples of Emotional Abuse in Sport

- Persistent failure to show any respect to a child e.g. continually ignoring a child
- Constantly humiliating a child by telling them they are useless
- Continually being aggressive towards a child making them feel frightened
- Acting in a way which is detrimental to the child’s self-esteem

Signs which may raise concerns about emotional abuse include:

- low self-esteem
- running away
- extremes of passivity or aggression
- significant decline in concentration
- indiscriminate friendliness and neediness
- self-harm or mutilation

(ii) Physical Injury

“Actual or attempted physical injury to a child, including the administration of toxic substances, where there is knowledge or reasonable suspicion, that the injury was inflicted or knowingly not prevented”.

This could include deliberately hitting, shaking, throwing, poisoning, burning, scalding, drowning, suffocating or otherwise harming a child. Physical injury may also occur where someone knowingly fails to take action to protect a child from physical harm.

Most children sustain accidental cuts and bruises throughout childhood. These are likely to occur in parts of the body like elbows, shins and knees. An important indicator of physical abuse is where the bruises or injuries are unexplained or the explanation does not fit the injury or the injury appears on parts of the body where accidental injuries are unlikely e.g. on the cheeks or thighs. The age of the child must also be considered. It is possible that some injuries may have occurred for other reasons e.g. skin disorders, rare bone diseases.

Physical injury may also be caused when a parent feigns the symptoms of or deliberately causes ill health to a child whom they are looking after. This is known as Fabricated Fictitious Syndrome by Proxy. A parent may do this because they need or enjoy the attention they receive through having a sick child.

Examples of Physical Abuse in Sport

Bodily harm that may be caused by:

- over training or dangerous training of athletes
- over playing an athlete
- failure to do a risk assessment of physical limits or pre-existing medical conditions
- administering, condoning or failure to intervene in drug use

Signs which may raise concerns about physical abuse include:

- refusal to discuss injuries
- improbable excuses given to explain injuries
- running away
- excessive physical punishment
- avoiding activities due to injuries or possibility of injuries being discovered
- aggression towards others
- fear of parents being approached for an explanation
- untreated injuries
- unexplained injuries, particularly if recurrent

(iii) Physical Neglect

“This occurs where a child’s essential needs are not met and this is likely to cause impairment to physical health and development. Such needs include food, clothing, cleanliness, shelter and warmth. A lack of appropriate care, including deprivation of access to health care, may result in persistent or severe exposure, through negligence, to circumstances which endanger the child”.

As well as being the result of a deliberate act, neglect can also be caused through the omission or the failure to act or protect e.g. the failure to obtain medical attention for a child.

Examples of Physical Neglect in Sport

- exposing a child to extreme weather conditions e.g. heat and cold
- failing to seek medical attention for injuries
- exposing a child to risk of injury through the use of unsafe equipment
- exposing a child to a hazardous environment without a proper risk assessment of the activity
- failing to provide adequate nutrition and water

Signs which may raise concerns about physical neglect include:

- constant hunger
- constant tiredness
- untreated medical problems
- poor peer relationships
- poor personal hygiene and/or poor state of clothing
- frequent lateness or unexplained non-attendance (particularly at school)
- low self-esteem
- stealing

(iv) Sexual Abuse

“Any child may be deemed to have been sexually abused when any person(s), by design or neglect, exploits the child, directly or indirectly, in any activity intended to lead to the sexual arousal or other forms of gratification of that person or other person(s) including organised networks. This definition holds whether or not there has been genital contact and whether or not the child is said to have initiated or consented to the behaviour”.

This includes forcing or enticing a child to take part in sexual activities whether or not they are aware of or consent to what is happening. Sexual abuse may involve physical contact, and non-contact acts such as forcing children to look at or be involved in the production of pornographic material, to watch sexual activities or encouraging them to behave in sexually inappropriate ways. Some of the aforementioned activities can occur through the internet.

Boys and girls are sexually abused by males and females, including persons to whom they are and are not related and by other young people. This includes people from all walks of life.

Some children may never be able to tell someone they have been sexually abused. Changes in a child’s behaviour may be a sign something has happened. In some cases there may be no physical or behavioural signs to suggest that a child has been sexually abused.

Examples of Sexual Abuse in Sport

- exposure to sexually explicit inappropriate language or jokes
- showing a child pornographic material or using a child to produce such material
- inappropriate touching
- sexual intercourse and/or sexual activity with a child under 16

The following signs may raise concerns about sexual abuse:

- lack of trust in adults or over familiarity with adults, fear of a particular adult
- sleep disturbance (nightmares, bed-wetting, fear of sleeping alone)
- girls taking over the mothering role
- reluctance or refusal to participate in physical activity or to change clothes for games
- drug, alcohol or solvent abuse
- sexual promiscuity, over-sexualised behaviour, compulsive masturbation
- unusual interest in the genitals of adults, children or animals
- bruises, scratches, bite marks to the thighs or genital areas
- discomfort/difficulty in walking or sitting
- urinary tract problems, vaginal infections or genital damage
- stained underwear, soiling or wetting
- fear of bathrooms, showers, closed doors
- having irrational fears
- psychosomatic factors e.g. recurrent abdominal or headache pain
- social isolation – being withdrawn or introverted, poor peer relationship
- running away from home
- school problems e.g. falling standards, truancy
- low self-esteem
- display of sexual knowledge beyond the child's age
- eating disorders
- anxiety, depression, self-harm/mutilation, suicide attempts
- pregnancy
- fear of medical examinations
- genital odour, venereal /sexually transmitted diseases
- itchiness, soreness, discharge, unexplained bleeding from the rectum, vagina or penis
- abnormal sexual drawings
- developmental regression/acting younger than their age
- “Grooming” including over the internet.

Bullying

Bullying may be seen as particularly hurtful behaviour, usually repeated over a period of time, where it is difficult for those being bullied to defend themselves. It can take many forms including children being bullied by adults, their peers and in some cases by members of their families. Bullying can be difficult to identify because it often happens away from others and those who are bullied often do not tell anyone.

Bullying is a significant issue for children and has been the main reason for calls to ChildLine for the last eight consecutive years.

Examples of Bullying in Sport

- Physical e.g. theft, hitting, kicking (in some cases, this might constitute an assault)
- Verbal (including teasing) e.g. racist or sectarian remarks, spreading rumours, threats or name-calling, ridicule or humiliation
- Emotional e.g. isolating a child from the activities or social acceptance of the peer group

- Harassment e.g. using abusive or insulting behaviour in a manner intended to cause alarm or distress

Signs which may raise concerns about bullying include:

- hesitation or reluctance to come to attend training or activity
- often last one picked for a team or group activity for no apparent reason, or being picked on when they think your back is turned
- reluctance to go to certain places or work with a certain individual
- clothing or personal possessions go missing or get damaged
- bruising or other injuries
- 'losing' pocket money repeatedly
- becoming nervous and withdrawn
- suddenly prone to lashing out at people, either physically or verbally, when normally quiet

For further information refer to Appendix B of this policy - Recommended Guidelines for Managing Bullying

Racism

Children from British minority ethnic communities (and their parents) may have experienced harassment, racial discrimination, and institutional racism. Although not formally recognised as a form of child abuse, racism can be emotionally harmful to children. Some racist acts also involve acts of physical violence towards individuals or groups.

All organisations working with children, including those where British minority ethnic communities are numerically small, should address institutional racism.

Harassment

An essential characteristic of harassment is that it is unwanted by the recipient. It is for individuals to determine what behaviour is acceptable to him or her and what they regard as offensive.

Children may experience harassment or negative discrimination because of their race or ethnic origin, socio-economic status, culture, age, disability, gender, sexuality or religious beliefs. This can have a detrimental effect on a child.

3. CODE OF CONDUCT/SAFE IN CARE GUIDELINES

By the introduction of good practice throughout the SYFA it is possible to reduce the risk of child abuse taking place.

Why this is important

These guidelines have been introduced to provide practical guidance for all SYFA Officials working with players within the SYFA to keep all players safe and to promote a safe operating environment for all members. Breach of these guidelines may be dealt with under SYFA Disciplinary Procedures and/or the SYFA Player Protection Panel.

SYFA has a duty of care towards all players involved in football activities within its jurisdiction. Players under the age of 16 years should not be placed in positions of responsibility in relation to other players. These guidelines apply to all players and young people under the age of 18 years. Common sense should be applied when considering the circumstances of older players and all players should have the opportunity to express their views on matters which affect them, should they wish to do so.

The following guidelines are based on generally recognised good practice and common sense. Ultimately, most practical situations will require a judgment to be made about what is practicable and reasonable in the circumstances.

A CODE OF CONDUCT FOR NORMAL ACTIVITIES

Good Practice

Make football fun, enjoyable and promote fair play.

Always treat all players and officials with respect and dignity irrespective of their age, race, religious belief, gender, sexual orientation, disability or social background.

Involve parents wherever possible. Always be open and honest with players and parents.

Make sure all activities are properly supervised e.g. a ratio of one official to six players with a minimum of two officials in attendance.

Make sure all players and parents timeously complete and return a consent form.

Build balanced relationships based on mutual trust that empower and include players in the decision-making process.

Always work in an open environment. Avoid private or unobserved situations. Always strive to have a minimum of two club officials in attendance during all club activities.

Always act in the best interests of all players and officials, putting their welfare first before winning or achieving performance goals.

Be an excellent role model including not smoking or drinking alcohol in the company of children.

Give enthusiastic and constructive feedback rather than negative criticism.

Recognise the developmental needs and capacity of players and avoid excessive training and competition, pushing them against their will and putting undue pressure on them.

Take all reasonable steps, where possible, to protect all players and officials from harm or the risk of harm during all activities.

In emergency situations, take note of all risks before making decisions.

Always make sure that any allegations or concerns are recorded and acted upon.

Always report all incidents of abuse or concerns to the relevant protection officer and submit a written record of said incidents or concerns

Always have a trained first aider/physiotherapist with a fully stocked first aid kit on hand during all club activities.

Always wait until all players have left the changing room before officials shower and change.

Always be punctual for all football activities promoting good coaching practice and the ongoing development of a safe club where the needs and welfare of players is of paramount importance.

Always encourage full participation in all activities whilst at the same time acknowledge the limitations that may prevent this because of a player's special needs.

Practice To Be Avoided

Avoid spending too much unnecessary time alone with a player away from other players

Avoid meeting with players away from organised club activities without a parent or other club official being involved

Avoid making arrangements to meet a player in their home without the player's parent or guardian being present

Avoid having 'favourites' – this could lead to resentment and jealousy by other players and could be misinterpreted by others.

Avoid doing things of a personal nature for a player that a player can do for themselves such as going to the toilet or changing clothes. If assisting a player in the toilet, the official must never enter the toilet cubical. Seek the consent of parents and players where physical assistance is absolutely necessary.

Avoid being present whilst players are showering and changing unless it is necessary in the interests of health and safety or the players are particularly young or vulnerable. In these circumstances it would be best practice to have at least two officials present and, if appropriate, to leave the door open. Officials must always wait until all players have left the changing room before showering and changing.

Avoid a player traveling alone with a club official irrespective of the length or duration of the journey. If possible make sure your pick up or drop off points are with at least two players. If a single player has to be transported the club should seek the consent of the player's parent or guardian.

If under exceptional circumstances a single player has to be transported, make sure the official involved advises another club official or reports the incident to the club's Player Protection Officer.

Allowing Players or Officials to swear unchallenged.

Avoid players being unsupervised during club activities.

Avoid officials taking any club activities on his/her own.

Avoid Officials placing themselves in vulnerable situations.

Practice Never To Be Sanctioned

Harming a player or putting a player at risk of harm.

Sexually abusing a player.

Forming intimate emotional, physical or sexual relationships with children.

Allowing officials or players to use sexualised language unchallenged.

Making sexually suggestive comments to a child, even in fun.

Allowing or engaging in touching a child in a sexually suggestive manner. Any such incidents must be reported to another club official and the player involved informed that this behaviour is unacceptable.

Engaging in sexually provocative games, including horseplay.

Allow officials to shower or change with players. Always wait until all players have left the changing room.

Physically assaulting a player or official.

Engaging in rough or physical contact except as permitted within the rules of the game or competition.

Inviting or allowing children to stay with you at your home.

Supplying alcohol or banned substances to players.

Supplying banned substances to officials.

Allow players or officials to be under the influence of alcohol or any banned substances during football activities.

Extortion.

Bullying e.g. reducing a child to tears as a form of control.

Harassment and intimidation e.g. racial harassment. Allowing players or officials to refer to another club member's religion, gender, disability or sexuality in a derogatory manner.

Allow allegations made by a player to go unchallenged, unreported or not acted upon. If there is an attempt to cover up you may be implicated by your silence.

B CODE OF CONDUCT FOR CLUB OUTINGS

Good Practice

Implement all points listed at 3A

Make sure all outings are planned with health and safety of uppermost importance

Inform all parents timeously in writing of the times of departure, pick up points, time of return, drop off points and emergency telephone contact numbers.

Make sure all outings are properly supervised e.g. a ratio of one official to six players with a minimum of three officials in attendance.

Make sure all outings are properly supervised e.g. if the group consists of male and female players they must be accompanied by both male and female officials.

C CODE OF CONDUCT FOR TRIPS WITH OVERNIGHT STAYS

Good Practice

Implement all points listed at 3A and 3B plus refer to 3D Safe in Care Guidelines.

Make sure all overnight stays are planned with health and safety of uppermost importance.

Inform all parents timeously in writing of the date and time of departure, pick up points, date and time of return with drop off points and emergency contact details.

Make sure all overnight stays are properly supervised e.g. ratio officials to players with a minimum of three officials in attendance.

Make all players aware of the availability of telephones to contact home.

Practice To Be Avoided

Players visiting an adult's room.

Allowing officials to enter a player's room.

Practice Never To Be Sanctioned

An official sharing a room with a child unless he is the parent or guardian of the child.

Allowing officials to supervise or have any responsibility for players while under the influence of alcohol or any banned substances.

Allowing officials to check players' rooms unaccompanied. A minimum of 2 officials is required

Emergency Circumstances

Players visiting an adult's room unless under emergency circumstances. In such circumstances the room door should be left open if it is appropriate to do so.

Allowing officials to enter a player's room unless in the interests of health and safety or in an emergency. In such circumstances the room door should be left open if it is appropriate to do so.

Entering player's bedrooms on trips away from home, unless in an emergency situation or in the interest of health and safety. If it is necessary to enter rooms, alert the occupants by knocking and announcing your intention to enter. The door should remain open, if appropriate.

Some residential facilities offer dormitory sleeping arrangements where officials may be required to share with players. In such circumstances organisers must ensure that at least two adults who have been recruited and selected using the recommended procedure are present and that such arrangements have been discussed and agreed with players and parents in advance.

In some circumstances older players may be required to share rooms with senior team mates (i.e. over 18s). If this is necessary, it should be discussed and agreed in advance with the young person and the parents (where appropriate and practicable). The young people involved should also be aware of whom they should speak to if they have any worries or concerns during this time.

D SAFE IN CARE GUIDELINES

Adult to Player Ratios

As a guide, the following ratios are recommended for all SYFA activities:

|-------------------|-----|
| Age 3 up to age 8 | 1:6 |
| Age 8 and over | 1:8 |

All activities should be planned to involve a minimum of at least two registered officials.

All trips and overnight stays should be planned to involve a minimum of at least three registered officials.

If the team is mixed gender it is essential that there is one male and one female official. As a general guide, the following factors will also be taken in to consideration in deciding how many officials are required to safely supervise players:

- The number of players involved in the activity
- The age, maturity and experience of the players
- Whether any of the officials or players has a learning or physical disability or special requirements
- Whether any of the players have challenging behaviour
- The particular hazards associated with the activity
- The particular hazards associated with the environment
- The level of qualification and experience of the officials
- The programme of activities

There may be other considerations that need to be taken into consideration by the officials involved.

Physical Contact

All forms of physical contact should respect and be sensitive to the needs and wishes of the player and should take place in a culture of dignity and respect for all players. Players should be encouraged to express their views on physical contact.

In the first instance, coaching techniques should be delivered by demonstration (either by the coach or a player who can display the technique being taught).

Educational instruction should be clearly explained with a description of how it is proposed to handle or have contact with the player before doing so. This should be accompanied by checking if the player is comfortable. Manual support should be provided openly and must always be proportionate to the circumstances.

If it is necessary to help a player with personal tasks e.g. toileting or changing, the player and parents should be encouraged to express a preference regarding the support and should be encouraged to speak out about methods of support with which they are uncomfortable. Officials should work with parents and players to develop practiced routines for personal care so that parents and players know what to expect.

Do not take on the responsibility for tasks for which you are not appropriately trained e.g. manual assistance for a player with a physical disability.

First Aid and the Treatment of Injuries

All officials must ensure:

- Where practicable all parents of players under 18 have completed an SYFA Parental Consent Form before their son/daughter participates in football
- There is an accessible and well-resourced first aid kit at the venue
- They are aware of any pre-existing medical conditions, medicines being taken by participants or existing injuries and treatment required
- Only those with a current, recognised First Aid qualification treat injuries. In more serious cases assistance should be obtained from a medically qualified professional as soon as possible
- An SYFA Player Protection Incident Record Form is completed if a player sustains a significant injury along with the details of any treatment given. Common sense should be applied when determining which injuries are significant
- Where possible, access to medical advice and/or assistance is available. Do not take on the responsibility for tasks for which you are not appropriately trained e.g. giving a player an injection
- A player's parents are informed of any injury and action taken as soon as possible
- The circumstances in which any accidents occur are reviewed to avoid future repetitions

Guidelines for Managing Challenging Behaviour

Officials who deliver activities to young people may, from time to time, require to deal with a player's challenging behaviour.

These guidelines aim to promote good practice and to encourage a proactive response to supporting players to manage their own behaviour. The Guidelines suggest some strategies and sanctions which can be used and also identify unacceptable sanctions or interventions that must never be used by officials.

These guidelines are based on the following principles:

- The welfare of the player is the paramount consideration
- A risk assessment should be completed for all activities that takes in to consideration the needs of all players involved in the activity
- Players must never be subject to any form of treatment that is harmful, abusive, humiliating or degrading and should always be able to maintain their respect and dignity
- No official should attempt to respond to challenging behaviour by using techniques for which they have not been trained

Planning Activities

Good coaching practice requires planning sessions around the group as a whole but also involves taking into consideration the needs of each individual player within that group. As part of a risk assessment, officials should consider whether any members of the group have presented in the past or are likely to present any difficulties in relation to either, the tasks involved, the other participants or the environment.

Where officials identify any potential risks, strategies to manage those risks should be agreed in advance of the session, event or activity. The risk assessment should also identify the appropriate number of adults required to safely manage and support the session including being able to adequately respond to any challenging behaviour and to safeguard other members of the group and the officials involved.

All those delivering activities to players should receive training on these guidelines and should be supported to address issues of challenging behaviour through regular supervision.

Agreeing Acceptable and Unacceptable Behaviours

Players, officials and parents should be involved in developing an agreed statement of what constitutes acceptable and unacceptable behaviour and the range of sanctions that may be applied in response to unacceptable behaviour. This can be done at the start of the season, in advance of a trip away from home or as part of a welcome session at a residential camp.

Issues of behaviour and control should regularly be discussed with officials, parents and players in the context of rights and responsibilities. When players are specifically asked, as a group, to draw up a 'List of Acceptable and Unacceptable Behaviours and Sanctions for Unacceptable Behaviour' that will govern their participation in the team, they tend to arrive at a very sensible and working set of 'rules'. If and when such a list is compiled, every member of the group can be asked to sign it, as can new members as they join.

Managing Challenging Behaviour

In dealing with players who display risk-taking or challenging behaviours, officials might consider the following options:

- Time out- from the activity, team or individual work
- Reparation - the act or process of making amends
- Restitution - the act of giving something back
- Behavioural reinforcement - rewards for good behaviour, consequences for negative behaviour
- De-escalation of the situation - talking through with the player
- Increased supervision by officials
- Use of individual 'contracts' or agreements for their future or continued participation
- Sanctions or consequences e.g. missing a number of matches or missing a trip

Officials and players shall never be permitted to use any of the following as a means of managing a player's behaviour:

- Physical punishment or the threat of such
- The withdrawal of communication with the player
- Being deprived of food, water or access to changing facilities or toilets

Verbal intimidation, ridicule or humiliation

Officials should review the needs of any player for whom sanctions are frequently necessary. This review should involve the player and his/her parents to ensure an informed decision is made about the player's future or continued participation in the team. Whilst it would always be against the wishes of everyone involved in football, ultimately, if a player continues to present a high level of risk or danger to him or herself, or others, he or she may have to be debarred from football within the club.

Physical Interventions

The use of physical interventions should always be avoided unless it is absolutely necessary in order to prevent a player injuring themselves, injuring others or causing serious damage to property.

All forms of physical intervention shall form part of a broader approach to the management of challenging behaviour.

Physical contact to prevent something happening should always be the result of conscious decision-making and not a reaction. Before physically intervening, the official(s) should ask themselves, 'Is this the only option in order to manage the situation and ensure safety?'

The following must always be considered:

- Contact should be avoided with buttocks, genitals and breasts. Officials should never behave in a way that could be interpreted as sexual
- Any form of physical intervention should achieve an outcome that is in the best interests of the player whose behaviour is of immediate concern
- Officials should consider the circumstances, the risks associated with employing physical intervention compared with the risks of not employing physical intervention
- The scale and nature of physical intervention must always be proportionate to the behaviour of the player and the nature of harm/damage they might cause
- All forms of physical intervention should employ only a reasonable amount of force - the minimum force needed to avert injury to a person or serious damage to property – applied for the shortest period of time
- Officials should never employ physical interventions that are deemed to present an unreasonable risk to a player or official
- Officials shall never use physical intervention as a form of punishment

Any physical intervention used should be recorded as soon as possible after the incident by the official(s) involved using an SYFA Player Protection Incident Record Form and passed to the relevant Player Protection Officer as soon as possible.

A timely debrief for officials, the player and his/her parents should always take place following an incident where physical intervention has been used. This should include ensuring that the physical and emotional well-being of those involved has been addressed and ongoing support offered where necessary. Officials, players and parents should be given an opportunity to talk about what happened in a calm and safe environment.

There should also be a discussion with the player and his/her parents about the player's needs and continued safe participation within the team.

Transporting Players

Where it is necessary to transport players, the following good practice is required:

- Where parents make arrangements for the transportation of players to and from the activity, outwith the club it will be the responsibility of the parents to satisfy themselves about the appropriateness and safety of the arrangements
- Where the club makes arrangements for the transportation of players the club officials involved will undertake a risk assessment of the transportation required. This will include an assessment of the following areas:
 - Ensuring that all vehicles are correctly insured for the purpose
 - Ensuring the driver has a valid and appropriate license for the vehicle being used
 - All reasonable safety measures are available i.e. fitted, working seatbelts
 - An appropriate ratio of officials per player
 - Ensuring drivers have adequate rest periods
- When transporting players, wherever possible they should be in the back seat of the car for health and safety reasons

- Where practicable and planned, written parental consent will be requested if an official has to transport players without a second official being in attendance. To safeguard the official the following good practice is required:

Agree a collection policy with parents that include a clear and shared understanding of arrangements for collection at the end of a session.

Always tell another club official that you are transporting a player, give details of the route and the anticipated length of the journey.

Take all reasonable safety measures e.g. players in the back seat, seatbelts worn.

Where possible, have another adult accompany you on the journey.

Call ahead to inform the player's parents that you are giving them a lift and inform them when you expect to arrive.

E INFORMATION AND COMMUNICATIONS TECHNOLOGY (ICT)

The aim of these guidelines is not to prevent bona fide persons from recording footage for performance development reasons or the recording of achievements. They aim to ensure that players are protected from the misuse of opportunities to take or manipulate film and video footage in a way that harms players or places them at risk of harm.

Some sports take place in areas where organisers have little or no control over the environment such as an open river or areas to which the public have general rights of access. In these circumstances, organisers should take all reasonable steps to promote the safe use of photographing and filming and to respond to any concerns raised.

Photographs, Film and Video

SYFA will take all reasonable steps to promote the safe use of photographing and filming at all events and activities with which it is associated.

SYFA reserves the right at all times to prohibit the use of photography, film or video at any event or activity with which it is associated. Refusal to cease may result in the match being abandoned and the offending person reported to the relevant authority.

Anyone wishing to use photographic/film/video equipment during any Scottish Youth FA activity must firstly obtain the approval from the following:

For a single match, the secretaries of the competing clubs.

For tournaments, the secretaries of the competing clubs plus they must also seek approval from the Organising Secretary.

For Scottish Cup fixtures, the secretaries of the competing clubs plus they must also seek approval from the National Secretary.

Registration of intention to photograph will be required on the day. This enables tracking of the equipment and operator should concerns arise in the future.

Photography in changing rooms and associated areas is not allowed.

To be used in conjunction with the SYFA Code of Good Conduct for the Use of Photographs & Images

Internet

Permission

- Written consent must be obtained from the player's parent, using an SYFA Parental Consent Form, before publishing any information about a player. If the material is changed from the time of consent, the parents must be informed and consent provided for the changes
- Special care must be taken in relation to vulnerable children e.g. child fleeing domestic violence or a child with a disability, and consideration given to whether publication would place the child at risk
- Players who have a public profile as a result of their achievements are entitled to the same protection as all other players. In these cases, common sense is required when implementing these guidelines. All decisions should reflect the best interests of the player

Use of Images and Information

- Information published on the websites must never include personal information that could identify a player e.g. home address, e-mail address, telephone number of a player. All contact must be directed to the player's club. Credit for achievements by a player should be restricted to first name's e.g. Jack was Player of the Year 2006
- Players must never be portrayed in a demeaning, tasteless or a provocative manner. Players must never be portrayed in a state of partial undress. Attire such as tracksuits or t-shirts may be more appropriate
- Information about specific events or meetings e.g. coaching sessions must not be distributed to any individuals other than to those directly concerned

Concerns

Any concerns or enquiries about publications or the internet should be reported to club, league or associations Player Protection Officer or the National Secretary.

Mobile Phones

Short Message Service (SMS) messaging is a quick and easy way to communicate with others and is a popular and often preferred means of communication with players. All officials must be aware that intimidating, bullying or even abusive messages can be discreetly sent by text. Information sent in this way, even where well-meaning, could be misinterpreted.

Further, the risks presented by developments in modern technology are becoming increasingly recognised. Adults who seek to harm children have been known to use text messaging and internet chat rooms to "groom" children. This area is now specifically addressed by the Protection of Children and Prevention of Sexual Offences (Scotland) Act 2005.

Texting

Officials must consider whether it is necessary and appropriate to hold the mobile phone numbers of players. The general principle is that all communications with players should be open, transparent and appropriate to the nature of the relationship.

In the first instance contact should always be made at the phone number the parent has provided on the player's behalf. Good practice would include agreeing with players and parents what kind of information will be communicated directly to players by text message. This information should only be "need to know" information such as the last minute cancellation of a training session.

The following good practice is also required:

- The mobile phone numbers of players will be carefully stored (in accordance with data protection principles) and access will only be provided to those who need access for a legitimate reason
- Officials must never engage in personal or sensitive communications with players via text message
- All concerns about the inappropriate use of text messaging will be dealt with by the SYFA Player Protection Panel

Cameras/videos

There have already been a number of cases where children have been placed at risk as a result of the ability to discreetly record and transmit images through mobile phones. The use of mobile phones in this way can be very difficult to monitor.

The SYFA Code of Good Conduct for the Use of Photographs & Images in relation to the use of mobile phones as cameras/videos. Particular care is required in areas where personal privacy is important e.g. changing rooms, bathrooms and sleeping quarters. No photographs or video footage should ever be permitted in such areas of personal privacy.

All concerns about the inappropriate use of mobile phones, to record photographs or video footage, will be dealt with by the SYFA Player Protection Panel.

This may include the concerns being reported to the police.

5. RESPONDING TO CONCERNS

Why it is important to respond to concerns

It takes considerable courage for a child or adult to disclose abuse. Disclosures need to be handled very carefully and sensitively to avoid causing further distress to the player.

All concerns must be responded to in a way that ensures that a player receives appropriate help and support and to ensure that appropriate action is taken against those who pose a risk to players and to protect not only the player involved but all other players.

Robust guidelines for responding to concerns will:

- Help to avoid those receiving information from engaging in judgements
- Reassure those who report concerns that an appropriate course of action will ensue
- Support those charged with managing concerns by providing them with a step-by-step process to follow
- Safeguard the rights of those against whom complaints or allegations have been made

It is not the job of anyone in the SYFA to decide whether or not a player has been abused. It is however, everyone's responsibility to report concerns

Incidents of abuse may become known in a number of ways:

A player alleges that abuse has taken place or that they feel unsafe

A third party or anonymous allegation is received

A player's appearance, behaviour, play or statements cause suspicion of abuse and/or neglect

A player reports an incident(s) of alleged abuse, which occurred some time ago

A report is made regarding the serious misconduct of an official towards a player

You may have witnessed an incident or have suspicion about an incident

CONFIDENTIALITY

Information provided to organisations should remain confidential unless permission has been given to share the information by the individual concerned or the safety of that person or another person may be at risk.

If there is a reasonable concern that a player may be at risk of significant harm, this will always override a professional or organisational requirement to keep information confidential. It is good practice to inform parents and players about the kind of situations which may lead to them having to share information with other agencies.

DEFAMATION

Concerned adults are sometimes reluctant to report concerns about abuse for fear that the person suspected will sue them for defamation if the allegation turns out to be unfounded.

To be defamatory a statement must first of all be untrue. Even if subsequently shown to be untrue, the statement will be protected by 'qualified privilege' if it is made to the appropriate authority "in response to a duty, whether legal, moral or social or in the protection of an interest." (Norrie K, Defamation and Related Actions in Scots Law, 1995).

Unjustified repetition of the allegations to other persons will not be protected by privilege.

The qualification on privilege refers to statements made by malice. If a statement, even to the appropriate authority, can be shown to be motivated by malice, then an action of defamation could be successful.

PROCEDURES FOR RESPONDING TO CONCERNS

These procedures apply to all SYFA officials, clubs, leagues/associations and/or regions.

Concerns about the General Welfare of a Child (NOT involving concerns about child abuse)

The SYFA is committed to working in partnership with parents whenever there are concerns about a player. Parents have the primary responsibility for the safety and well being of their children.

In most situations, not involving the possibility of the abuse of a player, concerns should be discussed with parents. For example, if a player seems withdrawn, he/she may have experienced an upset in the family, such as a parental separation, divorce or bereavement. Common sense is advised in these situations.

Any significant, untoward or unusual incidents, which cause concern about the welfare of a player, should be recorded on the SYFA Player Protection Incident Record Form and reported to SYFA National Player Protection Officer as soon as possible. Parents should also be informed of the circumstances as soon as possible.

Advice should be sought from the SYFA National Player Protection Officer if there is any uncertainty about the appropriate course of action where there are concerns about the general welfare of a player.

Any breaches of these guidelines may result in the matter being referred to the relevant Disciplinary Committee.

What to Do if a Player Tells You about Abuse

No member of SYFA shall investigate allegations of abuse or decide whether or not a player has been abused.

Allegations of abuse must always be taken seriously. False allegations are very rare. If a player says or indicates they are being abused or information is obtained which gives concern that a player is being abused, the information must be responded to on the same day in line with the following procedure.

Respond

React calmly so as not to frighten the player

Listen to the player and take what they say seriously. Do not show disbelief

Reassure the player they are not to blame and were right to tell someone

Be aware of interpreting what a player says, especially if they have learning or physical disabilities which affect their ability to communicate or English is not their first language

Do not assume that the experience was bad or painful - it may have been neutral or even pleasurable

Avoid projecting your own reactions onto the player

Avoid asking any questions. If necessary only ask enough questions to gain basic information to establish the possibility that abuse may have occurred. Only use open-ended, non-leading questions

Do not introduce personal information from either your own experiences or those of other players

Avoid

Panicking

Showing shock or distaste

Probing for more information than is offered

Speculating or making assumptions

Making negative comments about the person against whom the allegation has been made

Approaching the individual against whom the allegation has been made

Making promises or agreeing to keep secrets and giving a guarantee of confidentiality

Where there is uncertainty about what to do with the information, the SYFA National Secretary or the SYFA National Player Protection Officer must firstly be consulted for advice on the appropriate course of action.

If the SYFA National Secretary or the SYFA National Player Protection Officer is unavailable or an immediate response is required the police and social work services must be consulted for advice. They have a statutory responsibility for the protection of children and they may already hold other concerning information about the child. Record any advice given.

If you are concerned about the immediate safety of the player:

Take whatever action is required to ensure the player's immediate safety.

Pass the information immediately to the police and seek their advice.

Record

Make a written record of the information as soon as possible using the SYFA Player Protection Incident Record Form, completing as much of the form as possible. The following information will help the police and social workers decide what action to take next:

Player's name, age and date of birth

Player's home address and telephone number

Any times, dates or other relevant information

Whether the person making the report is expressing their own concern or the concerns of another person

The player's account, if it can be given, of what has happened and how any injuries occurred using the player's own words

The nature of the concern (include all of the information obtained during the initial account e.g. time, date, location)

A description of any visible (when normally dressed) injuries or bruising, behavioural signs, indirect signs (do not physically examine the player)

Details of any witnesses

Whether the player's parents have been informed.

Details of anyone else who has been consulted and the information obtained from them

If it is not the player making the report, whether the player has been spoken to, if so what was said using the player's own words.

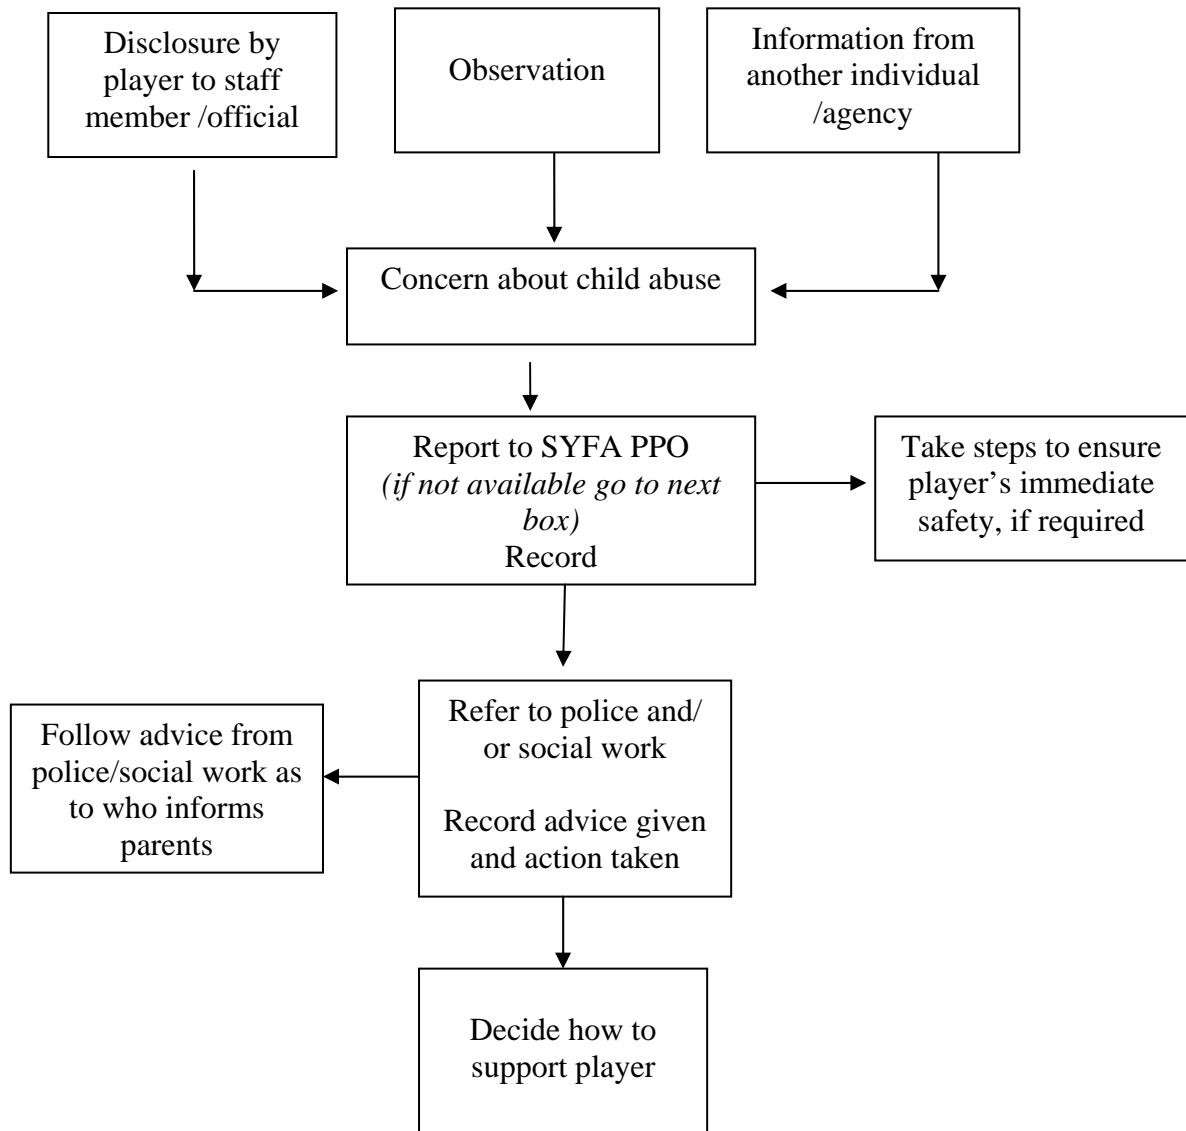

The player's views on the situation

If completing the form electronically, do not save copies to the hard drive or floppy disk. Print a copy, sign and date and then delete immediately. Pass the record that day to the SYFA National Secretary or the SYFA National Player Protection Officer. If unavailable or an immediate response is required the police and social work services should be contacted.

Sharing Concerns with Parents

Where there are concerns that the parent(s) may be responsible for or have knowledge of the abuse, sharing concerns with the parent(s) may place the player at further risk. In such cases advice must always firstly be sought from the police or social work services as to when and who informs the parents.

RESPONDING TO CONCERNS ABOUT CHILD ABUSE

PROCEDURE FOR RESPONDING TO CONCERNS ABOUT THE CONDUCT OF ANY SYFA OFFICIAL OR MEMBER OF STAFF

Concerns about the Conduct of a Member of Staff

The procedures outlined in this section also apply to the management of concerns about the conduct of any SYFA official(s).

For SYFA staff this section of the guidelines should be read in conjunction with the SYFA Grievance Procedures. 'What to do if a Child tells you about Abuse', applies whether the information is about a member of staff or someone not connected in any way with the SYFA. The following section details the procedure to be followed where the concern is about a member of staff.

These guidelines aim to ensure that all concerns about the conduct of a member of staff are dealt with in a timely, appropriate and proportionate manner. No member of SYFA staff in receipt of information that causes concern about the conduct of a member of staff towards players shall keep that information to himself or herself, or attempt to deal with the matter on their own.

In the event of an investigation in to the conduct of a member of staff all actions will be informed by the principles of natural justice:

Employees will be made aware of the nature of concern or complaint.

Where the concern is about possible child abuse, advice will firstly be taken from the police as to what can be said to the employee.

An employee will be given an opportunity to put forward their case.

SYFA will act in good faith, ensure the matter is dealt with impartially and as quickly as possible in the circumstances.

In all cases where there are concerns about the conduct of a member of staff towards players, the welfare of the player will be the paramount consideration.

At any point in the management of concerns about the conduct of a member of staff, advice may be sought from the police or social work services.

Initial Reporting of Concerns

Any concerns for the welfare of a player arising from the conduct of a member of staff must be reported to the National Secretary on the day the concern arises or as soon as practically possible.

Where the concern is about the National Secretary it must be reported to the President or in his/her absence to a Vice President.

Recording

Concerns must be recorded using the SYFA Player Protection Incident Record Form as soon as possible. Reporting the concerns to the National Secretary should not be delayed by gathering information to complete the form or until a written record has been made.

All subsequent actions taken and reasons for decisions shall be recorded at the same time on the SYFA Player Protection Incident Record Form, signed and dated by the National Secretary or the person appointed to manage the response to the concerns. Where SYFA Grievance Procedures are invoked, a written record will be made of all actions and reasons for decision. Guidance on the storage, sharing and retention of such records is contained in the relevant procedure.

Establishing the Basic Facts

Once the concerns have been reported, the National Secretary will:

Establish the basic facts

Conduct an initial assessment of the facts in order to determine the appropriate course of action.

Consult external agencies such as the police and social work services for advice at any time. This is important because they may hold other important information which, when considered alongside the current concerns builds a significant picture of concern.

Conducting the Initial Assessment

The National Secretary will conduct the initial assessment.

The purpose of the initial assessment is to clarify the nature and context of the concerns. It should determine whether there is reasonable cause to suspect or believe that a player has been abused/harmed or is at risk of abuse or harm. Every situation is unique so guidance cannot be prescriptive.

- Where the established facts support a concern about possible abuse, the initial assessment will not form part of the disciplinary investigation
- Subject to the nature and seriousness of the situation, if it is not clear at this stage whether a criminal offence may have been committed the member of staff may be approached as part of the information gathering process.

Where the nature and seriousness of the information suggests that a criminal offence may have been committed, or that to assess the facts may jeopardise evidence, advice will be sought from the SYFA Lawyer and/or the police before the member of staff is approached

- An initial assessment of the basic facts may require the need to ask a player some basic, open-ended, non-leading questions solely with a view to clarifying the basic facts. It may also be necessary to ask similar basic questions of other players, or other appropriate individuals
- Interviewing children about possible abuse and criminal offences is the sole remit of specially trained police officers and social workers. Questioning of players by those conducting an initial assessment should always be avoided as far as possible. If it is necessary to speak to the player in order to clarify the basic facts, best practice suggests that consent from the parent be obtained.

Possible outcomes of initial assessment:

- (i) No further action (facts do not substantiate complaint).
- (ii) Situation is dealt with under guidelines to manage poor practice; and/or,
- (iii) Disciplinary investigation by the SYFA General Purposes Committee
- (iv) Player protection panel investigation
- (v) Criminal investigation by the police.
The results of a criminal investigation may well influence the disciplinary investigation, but not in all cases.
- (vi) Civil proceedings by the player/family who alleged abuse.

Initial assessment supports concerns about poor practice and/or misconduct (but not possible child abuse)

The National Secretary will deal with the situation in line with the SYFA Grievance Procedures and/or Disciplinary Procedures.

Pending the outcome of any investigation conducted under the Grievance Procedures or Disciplinary Procedures, precautionary suspension will be considered in all cases where there is significant concern about the conduct of a member of staff towards players. The welfare of players will be the paramount concern in such circumstances.

Where the circumstances meet the referral criteria set out in the Protection of Children (Scotland) Act 2003, SYFA has a duty to make a referral to Scottish Ministers.

Initial assessment supports concerns about possible child abuse

Where the initial assessment of information gives reasonable cause to suspect or believe possible child abuse, the National Secretary will refer the concerns to the police and/or social work services as soon as possible on the day the information is received.

The National Secretary will make a written record of the name and designation of the social worker or the police officer to whom the concerns were passed together with the time and date of the call, in case any follow up is required.

The National Secretary will confirm referrals to the police/social work services in writing within 24 hours. A copy of the SYFA Player Protection Incident Record Form should be provided to the police/social work services on request.

Appropriate steps will be taken to ensure the safety of the player who may be at risk. The parents of the player involved will be informed as soon as possible following advice from the police/social work services.

Advice will firstly be obtained from the police/social work services about informing the staff member involved about the concerns. If the advice is to inform the staff member, they will be told that information has been received which may suggest an allegation of abuse. As the matter will be sub judice no details will be given unless advised by the police. All actions will ensure the best evidence is preserved for any criminal proceedings while at the same time safeguarding the rights of the employee.

The SYFA will take all reasonable steps to support a member of staff against whom an allegation of abuse has been made.

Precautionary Suspension

A precautionary suspension is not a form of disciplinary action. The staff member involved may be suspended whilst an investigation is carried out.

The National Secretary in accordance with the SYFA Player Protection Policy & Guidelines will apply the precautionary suspension. At the suspension interview the member of staff will be informed of the reason for suspension (within the confines of sharing information) and given the opportunity to make a statement should they wish to do so.

Notification of the suspension and the reasons will be conveyed in writing to the staff member in accordance with SYFA Player Protection Policy & Guidelines.

Disciplinary Investigation

Following advice from the police, cases that also involve a criminal investigation will not preclude disciplinary action being taken provided sufficient information is available to enable the National Secretary to make a decision and that to do so does not jeopardise the criminal investigation.

If SYFA taking action is likely to jeopardise the criminal investigation no action will be taken until the Police have concluded their actions.

False or Malicious Allegations

In the very exceptional circumstances that an investigation establishes an allegation is false, unfounded or malicious:

The staff member involved will receive an account of the circumstances and/or investigation and a letter confirming the conclusion of the matter. They may wish to seek legal advice. All records pertaining to the circumstances and investigation will be destroyed. The National Secretary will take all reasonable steps to support the individual in this situation. In these circumstances the SYFA Player Protection Panel will review the player's or official's participation within the SYFA. Data collected for the investigation will be destroyed in accordance with the requirements of the Data Protection Act 1998.

Historical Allegations of Abuse

Allegations of abuse may be made some time after the event e.g. an adult who was abused as a child by someone who is still currently working with children. These guidelines will be followed in the event of an allegation of historical abuse.

PROTECTION OF CHILDREN (SCOTLAND) ACT 2003

The SYFA will refer to Scottish Ministers the cases of any member of staff or official who has (whether or not in the course of their role within the SYFA) harmed a child or placed a child at risk of harm AND as a result:

1. SYFA has dismissed the staff member or official.
2. The staff member or official would have been dismissed as a result of the incident had they not resigned, retired or been made redundant.
3. SYFA has transferred the staff member or official to a position in SYFA which is not a child care position.
4. The staff member or official would have been dismissed or considered for dismissal where employment was not due to end at the expiry of a fixed term contract; or,

The staff member or official would have been dismissed or considered for dismissal had the contract not expired.

5. SYFA will also refer the case of a staff member or official where information becomes available after the staff member or official has:

- been dismissed by SYFA
- resigned, retired or been made redundant
- been transferred to another position in SYFA which is not a child care position; and,

SYFA form the opinion (on the basis of the information) that they would have dismissed or considered dismissing the staff member or official on such grounds, had the information been available at the time of resignation/ redundancy/ retirement/ transfer.

Where SYFA receives information that a staff member or official who holds a child care position has been fully listed on the Disqualified from Working with Children List, the staff member will be removed from the SYFA.

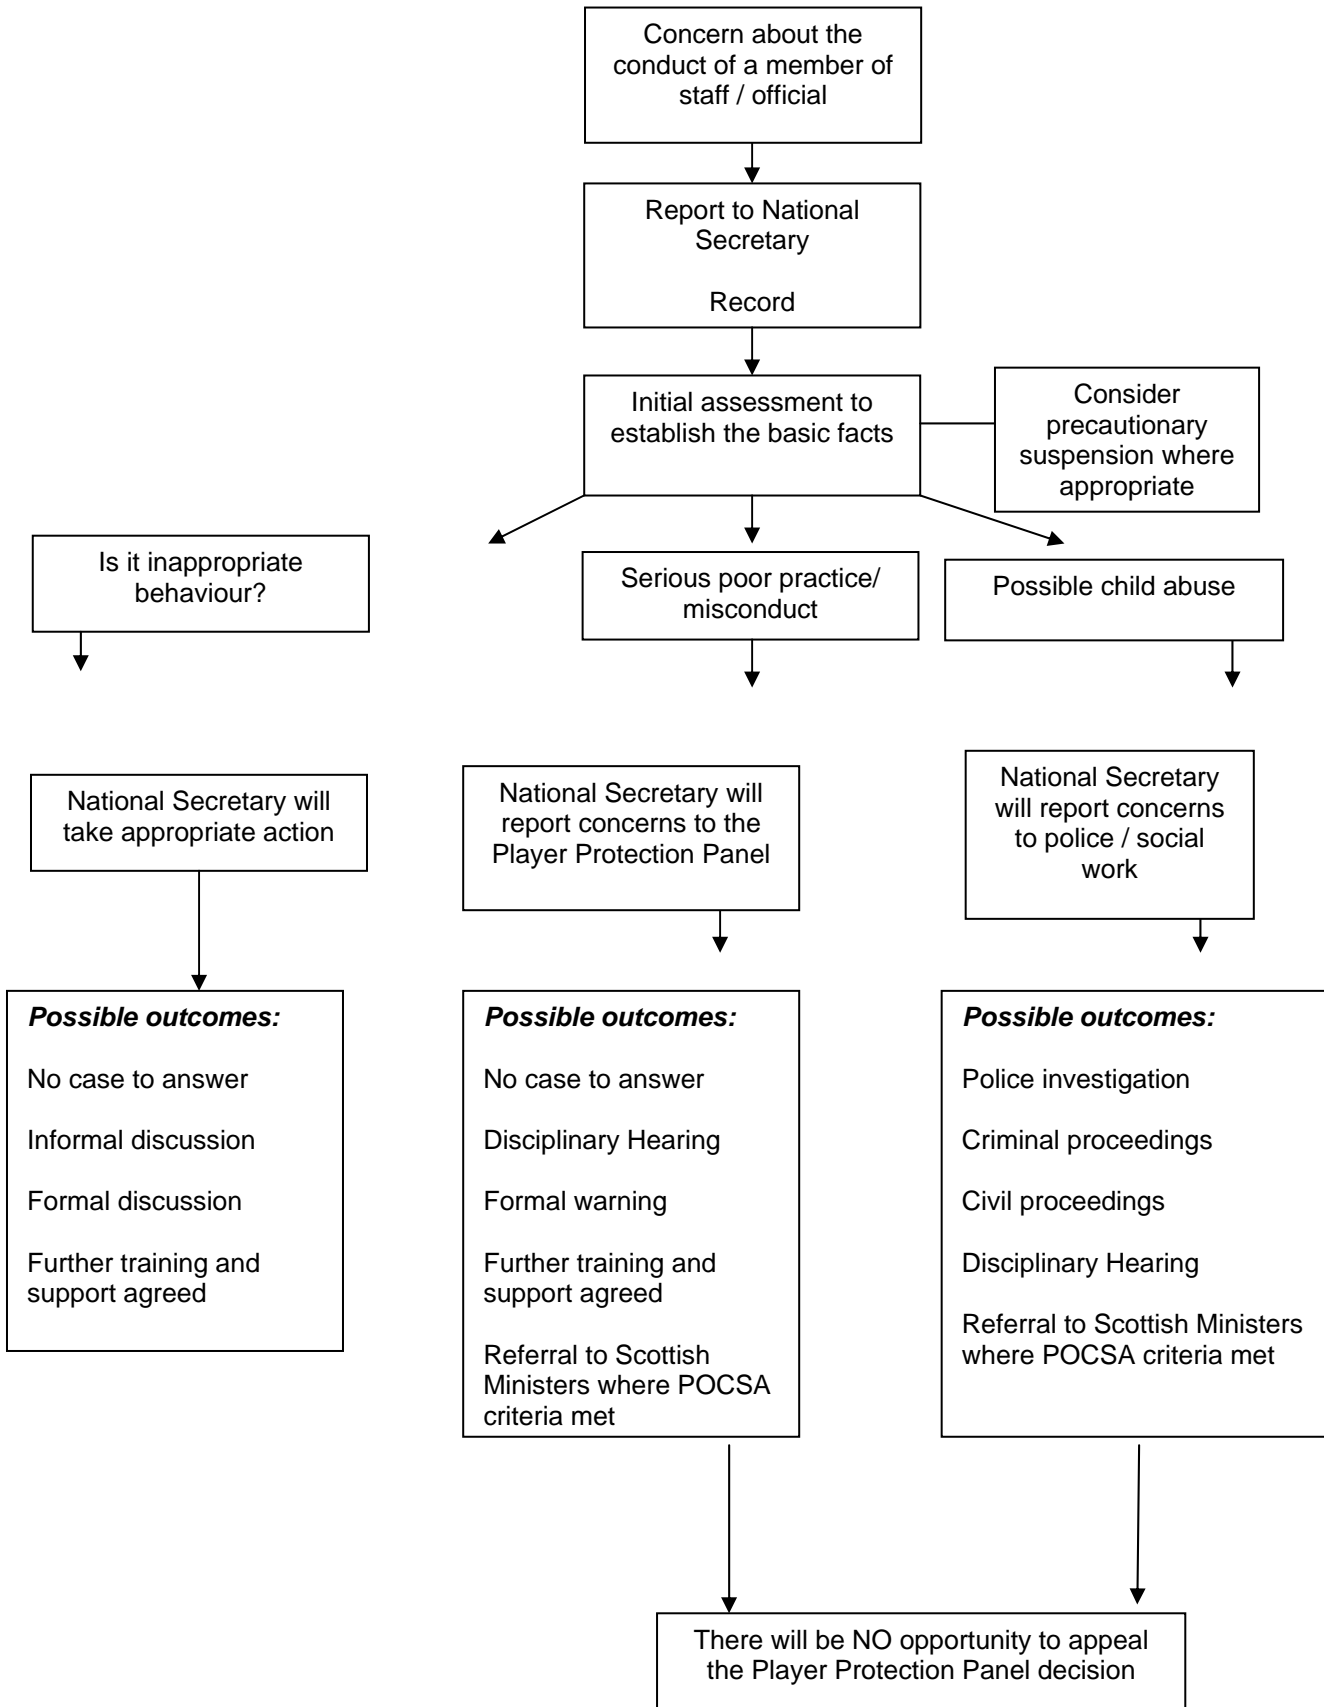

Media

All media enquiries relating to the conduct of a member of staff or official will be referred to the National Secretary of the SYFA.

Concerns about the Conduct of SYFA Officials

The guidelines outlined in section 5 apply to the management of concerns about the conduct of SYFA Officials.

CHILD PROTECTION- LEGISLATION

This is intended as a brief guide to the legislation relevant to the care and protection of children in Scotland. The SYFA will obtain advice from a solicitor in relation to specific legal issues.

INTERNATIONAL CONVENTIONS

United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child (1989) UNCRC

An international agreement which prescribes the rights of all children and young people under the age of 18. The rights in the Convention are generally cover three areas: participation (e.g. a child's right to have a say in decisions which affect them), provision (e.g. provision of services to promote health and education) and protection (e.g. the right to be protected from all forms of abuse, harm and exploitation at all time).

The UK is a signatory to UNCRC and must report to a UN Committee on steps taken to promote and respect these rights. Whilst not legally binding, the Convention is highly influential on decisions made by courts and public authorities about the lives of children.

European Convention on Human Rights (1950)

This convention is legally binding on the UK because its provisions were introduced into the law of Scotland by the Human Rights Act 1998 and the Scotland Act 1998. The rights prescribed apply to children and adults. The main articles of relevance are:

Article 8: right to respect for private and family life, home and correspondence

Article 3: the right not to be tortured or experience inhuman or degrading treatment

Courts and public authorities must act in a manner which is consistent with these rights and can only interfere (in some cases) where there is a legitimate reason to do so. The protection of children is one such reason. For a copy of the Convention see http://www.hrcr.org/docs/Eur_Convention/euroconv.html

UK and SCOTTISH LEGISLATION

Rehabilitation of Offenders Act 1974

Generally, criminal convictions become spent after a period of time (which depends on the sentence imposed by the court at the time of conviction). As a result of this Act spent convictions, generally, do not have to be disclosed to potential employers unless in a childcare position.

Exclusions and Exceptions (Scotland) Order 2003

There are certain jobs and voluntary positions for which prospective employers need to know about a person's criminal record to decide whether they are suitable for the position e.g. work with children. This Order lists the positions and professions where there is an exception to the general rule on non-disclosure of convictions.

Data Protection Act 1998

Applies to any information, however obtained and used, which relates to living persons. Covers how such information is to be gathered, stored, processed and protected. All organisations that hold or process personal data must comply.

Police Act 1997

Introduced three levels of disclosure information which are released in the form of Disclosure Certificates from Disclosure Scotland. Also introduced access to criminal records for those who engage or appoint volunteers in positions which bring them in to contact with vulnerable groups.

Age of Legal Capacity (Scotland) Act 1991

Children under 16 do not generally have legal capacity. This act sets out the circumstances in which children are regarded as having legal capacity including the ability to consent to medical treatment.

Commissioner for Children and Young People (Scotland) Act 2003

Scotland's Commissioner for Children and Young People is Kathleen Marshall. It is her job to promote and safeguard the rights of children living in Scotland as set out in UNCRC.

Criminal Procedure (Scotland) Act 1995

Schedule 1 to this Act contains a list of offences against children e.g. abandonment or wilful neglect. Someone who has committed an offence which is listed in this Schedule is often referred to by professionals as a "Schedule 1 offender".

Children (Scotland) Act 1995

The main piece of legislation covering child welfare and protection. Covers the rights and responsibilities of parents, the role of the local authority, the Children's Hearing System and introduced a number of measures for taking action to protect children in an emergency. This Act clearly states that the best interests of the child must always be considered and children should be given an opportunity to have a say on matters which affect them, should they wish to do so.

Criminal Justice (Scotland) Act 2003

Amended the law in Scotland in relation to the physical punishment of children by parents. This Act makes it illegal for parents to hit a child on the head, hit a child with an implement and to shake a child.

Sexual Offences (Amendments) Act 2000

Introduced a new offence of abuse of trust applicable to “positions of trust” which involve looking after children and young people who are in full time education, detained under a court order, looked after in a hospital/ children’s home or other establishment providing social care or in foster care.

Protection of Children (Scotland) Act 2003

Provides for the creation of the Disqualified from Working with Children List. It will be an offence for an organisation to knowingly appoint a worker (paid and unpaid) who is fully listed in to child care positions (as defined in Schedule 2 of the Act).

The Act also creates a duty on organisations to refer an individual to the list where the individual has harmed a child or placed a child at risk of harm and has been dismissed or moved away from access to children as a consequence, or who would have been dismissed , but who has resigned, retired or was made redundant before the dismissal was completed or left at the end of a temporary contract.

Also creates a duty to remove an individual who is fully listed from a child care position.

Protection of Children and Prevention of Sexual Offences (Scotland) Act 2005

Addresses the predatory behaviour of those who “groom” children with the aim of abusing them by introducing a new offence of “grooming”. Enables the police to take preventative action before the child meets the perpetrator. Provides the police and courts with additional powers to apply for and grant, a Risk of Sexual Harm Order on those who are considered to pose a risk to children.

APPENDIX A (extract from The Protection of Children (Scotland) Act 2003)

SCHEDULE 1 OF THE CRIMINAL PROCEDURE (SCOTLAND) ACT, 1995

The offences against children detailed in Schedule 1 are:

- a) Any offence under Section 1-13 Criminal Law (Consolidation) (Scotland) Act 1995
(The main offences are, procuring, abduction, unlawful sexual intercourse, indecent behaviour, causing or encouraging prostitution and permitting to be in a brothel.)
- b) Any offence under Section 13 of the Criminal Law (Consolidation) (Scotland) Act 1995
This prescribes the circumstances in which a homosexual act as defined in the Act may be an offence. There is reference to the protection of people suffering from learning disabilities and inter alia; it is an offence to commit or be a party to the commission of, or to procure or attempt to procure the commission of a homosexual act with a person under the age of 21 years. (A "homosexual act" is defined as sodomy or an act of gross indecency by one male person with another male person.)
- c) Any offence under Sections 12, 15, 22 or 33 of the Children & Young Person's (Scotland) Act 1937.

The offences in this section are:

Section 12 - It is an offence for any person who has attained the age of 16 years and who has the custody, charge or care of a child or young person under the age of 16 years, to wilfully assault, neglect, abandon or expose a child, or to cause or procure a child to be assaulted etc, in a manner likely to cause the child unnecessary suffering or injury to his/her health.

It is no defence to a charge under this section that the actual suffering or injury was prevented by the actions of a third party.

Section 15 - The causing by any person or the permitting by a person having the custody, charge or care of a child of begging by the child.

Section 22 - The allowing of a child under 7 years by a person over 16 years who has custody, charge or care of the child, to be in a room with an open, unprotected fire-grate and to be burned or scalded because of the lack of protection of the fire-grate and the absence of other reasonable precautions.

Section 33 - The causing or procuring by any person or the allowing by a parent or guardian of a child's participation in a public performance in which the life or limbs of the child are endangered.

- d) Any other offence involving bodily injury to a child under 17 years.
- e) Any offence involving the use of lewd, indecent or libidinous practice or behaviour towards a child under the age of 17 years.

LEGAL DEFINITIONS OF SEXUAL OFFENCES

SEXUAL ASSAULT

Rape

Common law offence of carnal knowledge of female (sexual intercourse) by a male obtained by overcoming her will. The requirement of 'sexual intercourse' or 'carnal knowledge' is satisfied by any degree of penetration of the woman's vagina by the man's penis. This need not be accompanied by emission of semen. Sexual intercourse with a girl under the age of 12, regardless of whether consent has seemingly been given constitutes rape at common law, as girls under 12 lack legal capacity to consent.

Assault with Intent to Rape or Ravish

This is an aggravated form of common law assault and is distinguished from attempted rape on the basis that the assault is not sufficiently proximate to a completed rape to amount to an attempt.

Indecent Assault

This is a common law assault accompanied by circumstances of indecency. Due to the restricted definition of rape as genital penetration, many sexual assaults which do not involve sexual intercourse or an intention to have forcible sexual intercourse, will be charged as indecent assault or as a form of shameless indecency. Thus the offence encompasses a wide spectrum of conduct ranging from relatively minor offences which may involve annoyance or embarrassment, to serious offences of sexual aggression.

LEWD AND LIBIDINOUS PRACTICES

Lewd and Libidinous Behaviour towards Children

Common law offence of engaging in lewd, indecent and libidinous practices towards girls or boys under the age of puberty (12 years), regardless of whether or not they consent as they lack the legal capacity to consent. Such practices may include indecent handling of the child; however, there is no need for any physical contact between the parties and the offence may be constituted by engaging in indecent conduct in the presence of a child.

It is a statutory offence under the Criminal Consolidation (Scotland) Act 1995 to engage in lewd, indecent or libidinous practice or behaviour towards a girl over 12 and under 16, regardless of whether consent has been given.

Shameless Indecency

This common law offence covers a broad range of conduct and is recorded in the category of lewd and libidinous practices. The offence may relate to lewd practices with a child and indecent exposure; however it also extends to the sale or display of obscene articles.

Shameless indecency cases may involve sexual relations, an affront to public decency (i.e. indecent exposure), and conduct not only involving an affront to public decency but which is intended, or likely, to deprave and corrupt public morals (i.e. promoting or presenting an indecent display or performance, or selling (or offering or exposing for sale) indecent and obscene material).

Indecent Exposure

This is not a distinct offence in Scots law. It may be recorded as a form of lewd practice, or breach of the peace, or shameless indecency. It is accepted that, in certain circumstances, exposing those parts of the body that are usually concealed is a criminal offence. An act of indecent exposure is in itself criminal in two sets of circumstances; where the exposure is a form of sexual gesture or invitation; and where the exposure is made in a public place but without any sexual overtones, for example, 'streaking'.

OTHER CRIMES OF INDECENCY

Incest

Statutory offence under section 1 to 3 of the Criminal Law (Consolidation) (Scotland) Act 1995. Involves sexual intercourse between people related to each other within forbidden degrees of relationship. Sexual intercourse has the same meaning as in rape. The three groups of forbidden relationships include:

- direct ascendants and descendants - i.e. parent and child, grandparent and grandchild
- persons related in the first degree - i.e. brothers and sisters
- persons so related to one party is descended in the first and once in the second degree from the common ancestor i.e. aunts, uncles, nephews and nieces

Intercourse between step-relations is no longer incestuous. However, it is an offence for a step-parent or former step-parent to have intercourse with a step-child who is either:

- under the age of 21
- or over the age of 21 and has, at any time before becoming 18, lived in the same household and been treated as a child or the step-parent's family

It is also an offence for a person over the age of 16 to have sexual intercourse with a child under the age who is a member of the same household as the accused in relation to whom the accused is in a position of trust or authority.

Sodomy

Common law offence of unnatural carnal connection between male persons (anal intercourse). Both parties are guilty of the offence if consensual. Sodomy in private between consenting males of legal age (18) was legalised by the Criminal Justice (Scotland) Act 1980.

Unlawful Sexual Intercourse with a Girl Under 16 / Under 13

These two statutory offences are contained in Section 5 of the Criminal Consolidation (Scotland) Act 1995.

Abducting or Unlawful Detention of a Girl Under 18 with Intent

Statutory offence of taking, or causing to be taken, any unmarried girl under the age of 18 years out of the possession, and against the will, of her father or mother, or lawful guardian, with intent that she should have unlawful sexual intercourse with men or a particular man.

Person with Custody or Care of a Girl or Other Parental Responsibility causing her Seduction

Statutory offence of a person having parental responsibility in relation to a girl under 16 years causing or encouraging her:

- seduction or prostitution; or
- having unlawful sexual intercourse with her; or
- indecently assaulting her

Procreation of Homosexual Acts

Statutory offence of committing or procuring or attempting to procure the commission of a homosexual act:

- otherwise than in private; or
- without the consent of both parties to the act; or
- with a man under the age of 18 years.

OFFENCES AGAINST PUBLIC ORDER AND WELFARE

Offences against public order and welfare are not classified as 'Crimes of indecency' in The Scottish Office Home Department classification but may include sexual elements. These are classified within the group 'Miscellaneous Offences' and include the following:

Taking of, or Possession of, Indecent Images of Children

The Civic Government (Scotland) Act 1982, (Ss 52, 52A) makes it an offence to permit to be taken or possess any indecent photograph or a person under the age of 16.

Handling Obscene Material

Section 170 of the Customs and Excise Management Act 1979, in relation to goods prohibited to be imported under section 42 of the Customs Consolidation Act 1876, makes it an offence to acquire, possess, carry, remove, deposit, harbour, keep, conceal, or in any way deal with obscene or indecent goods. An indecent or obscene article is defined as of a nature calculated to deprave or corrupt persons open to depraving or corrupting influence. Obscenity in Scots criminal law has so far been confined to sexual obscenity.

Obscene Telephone Calls

The Telecommunications Act 1984 section 43 (1) (a) makes it an offence to send by means of a public telecommunications system a message or other matter that is either grossly offensive, or of indecent, obscene or menacing character.

OTHER

Abduction of a Woman or a Girl with Intent to Rape

This common law offence is recorded, together with other abductions, as a Crime of Violence rather than a Crime of Indecency. It may be committed in respect of a child or an adult; however in the case of a girl over 12 it must be shown to have been non-consensual. This offence can be committed by fraud or force.

THE SEX OFFENDERS ACT 1997

The Sex Offenders Act 1997 requires certain categories of Sex Offenders to notify the Police, in the Force area they reside, of their name and address and any change of name or address (address includes permanent address or any address they may stay for more than 14 days in any year). This notification to the Police can be made by calling personally at a Police Station or in writing.

If a person fails, without reasonable excuse, to comply with a requirement to notify the Police within 14 days he commits an offence contrary to the Sex Offenders Act 1997 Section 3 (1)(a). A reasonable excuse could be being in custody, in hospital or out of the country.

If a person notifies to the Police in compliance of a registration requirement, any information he knows to be false, he commits an offence contrary to the Sex Offenders Act 1997 Section 3 (1)(b).

There is no power of arrest for these offences.

In Part II of the Act, Section 8, by amending the Criminal Law (Consolidation) (Scotland) Act 1995, will also give United Kingdom jurisdiction to deal with those who commit certain sexual acts against children abroad.

Section 8 inserts a new Section 16B in the Criminal Law (Consolidation) (Scotland) Act 1995.

The effect of this is to provide that a person who does an act which is an offence under the law in force in a country or territory outside the United Kingdom (however that act is described in that law) and which is also a listed sexual offence as defined in subsections (7) and (8) of Section 16B shall constitute that sexual offence under the law of Scotland. These provisions only apply to persons who are on the date of commencement, or have subsequently become, British citizens or resident in the United Kingdom.

In any prosecution under the Act, it will be deemed that the “dual criminality” test (that is to say, the fact that the act is an offence both in the United Kingdom and in the Country where it occurs) is satisfied unless the accused services on the prosecutor to prove that it is satisfied. The Court has discretion to permit the defence to require the prosecutor to prove that the condition is satisfied without the prior service of a notice. In proceedings on indictment, it will be for the judge to decide whether the dual criminality test is satisfied.

SEXUAL OFFENCES (AMENDMENT) ACT 2000

Section 1 of the Act provides that a homosexual act in private shall not be an offence provided that the parties consent and have reached the age of sixteen. The effect of the amendment is to substitute the age of 16 for 18.

Section 2 of the Act also provides that if a person under the age of sixteen commits, or is party to the commission of, a homosexual act with someone above that age then the party under the age of sixteen does not commit an offence.

APPENDIX B: GUIDELINES FOR MANAGING BULLYING

Bullying may be seen as particularly hurtful behaviour usually repeated over a period of time, where it is difficult for those bullied to defend themselves. Bullying can take many forms including:

Physical e.g. hitting, kicking, theft

Verbal (including teasing) e.g. making racist remarks, spreading rumours, threats or name-calling

Emotional e.g. isolating a player from the activities or social acceptance of the peer group

Harassment e.g. using abusive or insulting behaviour in a manner intended to cause alarm or distress

Players may be bullied by adults, their peers and in some cases by their families

Action to Help the Victim(s) and Prevent Bullying:

Take all signs of bullying very seriously.

Encourage all players to speak and share their concerns. Help the victim(s) to speak out and tell the person in charge or someone in authority. Create an open environment.

Take all allegations seriously and take action to ensure the victim(s) is safe. Speak with the victim and the bully(ies) separately.

Reassure the victim(s) that you can be trusted and will help them, although you cannot promise to tell no-one else.

Keep records of what is said i.e. what happened, by whom and when.

Report any concerns to the person in charge at the organisation where the bullying is occurring.

Action towards the Bully(ies):

Talk with the bully(ies), explain the situation and try to get the bully(ies) to understand the consequences of their behaviour.

Seek an apology from the bully to the victim(s).

Inform the bully's parents/guardians.

If appropriate, insist on the return of 'borrowed' items and that the bully(ies) compensates the victim.

Impose sanctions as necessary.

Encourage and support the bully(ies) to change behaviour

Keep a written record of action taken.

APPENDIX C

GUIDELINES FOR OVERNIGHT STAYS

1. Player Protection Officer for the Trip

The Player Protection Officer should ensure all practical arrangements have been addressed and act as the main contact for dealing with any concerns about the safety and welfare of children whilst away from home.

A detailed itinerary will be prepared and copies provided to the designated contact for the club, all players and their parents.

2. Risk Assessment

Potential area of risk should be identified at the planning stage through a risk assessment, which is legally required, and which should be recorded in writing. Safeguards should be put in place to manage the risks, where appropriate. Risk assessment should be an on-going process throughout the trip as groups can often find themselves in unexpected situations despite the best laid plans!

3. Travel Arrangements

See Guidelines on Transporting Children. Organisers must ensure there is adequate and relevant insurance cover (including travel and medical insurance). If the trip involves travel abroad, organisers shall ensure they are aware of local guidelines for dealing with concerns about the welfare of children and are familiar with the details of the emergency services in the location of the visit. Players must be informed of local custom regulations.

4. Adult to Child Ratios

All trips away must be planned to involve a minimum of at least three officials. The guidelines on adult to child ratios will inform an assessment of the numbers of officials required to safely supervise the group.

Those involved should be recruited and selected in accordance with the procedure for recruiting SYFA Officials.

Officials should be familiar with and agree to abide by the SYFA Player Protection Policy & Guidelines.

5. Accommodation

Organisers should find out as much as possible about the accommodation and the surroundings at the planning stage. Where possible, an initial visit to the venue/accommodation should take place to help those organising the trip identify all practical issues and allow time to address them in advance, in consultation with players and parents where appropriate.

The following is a (non-exhaustive) list of some of the practical things which should be considered in advance about the arrangements for accommodation:

- Location: central and remote locations both present different challenges
- Sleeping arrangements. These will enable suitable sharing in terms of age and gender and appropriately located official's bedrooms for both supervision and ease of access in case of emergency. Parents and players should be consulted in advance about arrangements for sharing where possible and appropriate
- Appropriate safeguards where others have access to the sleeping quarters
- Special access or adaptive aids required by officials or players
- Environmental factors

- Personal safety issues

Exchange Visits/Hosting

Before departure, organisers should ensure there is a shared understanding of the standards expected during home stays between them, host organisation/families, parents and children themselves. These standards should include arrangements for the supervision of players during the visit.

Host families should be appropriately Disclosure Scotland Checked where possible or equivalent police checks undertaken and references thoroughly checked. Organisers, parents and players should all be provided with a copy of emergency contact numbers.

Player should be aware of who they should talk to if problems arise during the visit. Daily contact should be made with all players to ensure they are safe and well.

Residential at a Facility/Centre

Organisers should ensure the facility is appropriately licensed and has adequate and relevant insurance cover in place. The facility should have a policy on the protection of children and Health and Safety. Adequate security arrangements should be in place and facility staff should have been Disclosure Scotland checked where appropriate. Facility staff involved in the training or instruction of children must be appropriately qualified and trained.

Organisers should ensure there is adequate supervision of the group for the duration of the stay, particularly when the facility is being shared with other groups.

6. Involving Parents

Where possible, a meeting should be held with parents before departure to share information about the trip, answer their questions and make joint decisions about arrangements where appropriate. A Code of Conduct shall be agreed with players and parents in advance of the trip along with sanctions for unacceptable behaviour.

Parents must complete an SYFA Parental Consent Form. In the event of an emergency at home during the trip, parents should be encouraged to make contact with the officials in the first instance so that arrangements can be put in to place to support the player on hearing any distressing news.

7. During the Trip

Organisers must ensure arrangements are in place for the supervision and risk assessment of activities during free time. Players shall not be allowed to wander alone in unfamiliar places. Officials should have clear roles and responsibilities for the duration of the trip. They must not be over familiar with or fraternise with children during the trip and remember that they are in a position of trust at all times. The use of alcohol and/or drugs or engaging in sexual relationships (between two young people) should not be condoned during the trip, even if the legislation relating to any of these behaviours is more lenient than in Scotland.

Officials should maintain an overview of the well being of all players during the trip. This can help to identify issues at an early stage and resolve them as quickly as possible. Players can participate in this process by, for example, taking turns to complete a daily diary about the trip. This can be an overt or discreet way for them to communicate things (both positive and negative) that they want you to know.

8. After the Trip

Where appropriate, a debrief will take place with all those involved in the trip, including players. This will provide an opportunity to reflect on what went well, not so well and what could have been done differently. Feedback will be used to inform future trips.
